Executive Summary

Me Clinic is a long-established cosmetic surgery and cosmetic medicine practice located in Malvern East, Melbourne, Victoria. With over 35 years of continuous operation since the early 1980s, the clinic positions itself as one of Australia's pioneering cosmetic surgery providers, having been among the first clinics to perform liposuction procedures in the country.

The clinic offers a comprehensive range of surgical and non-surgical cosmetic procedures spanning body contouring (particularly liposuction), breast surgery, facial rejuvenation, and skin treatments. The practice operates under proprietary ethical frameworks branded as "Responsible Cosmetic Surgery™" and "Responsible Cosmetic Medicine™," which emphasise patient education, realistic expectations, and a medicine-first approach to cosmetic enhancement.

Me Clinic's medical team includes FRACS-qualified specialist plastic surgeons and experienced cosmetic physicians with credentials from Australian and international institutions. The clinic claims to have performed over 25,000 surgical procedures and more than 60,000 medical treatments throughout its history, establishing a substantial track record in the Australian cosmetic surgery market.

Founding and History

Me Clinic was established in the early 1980s, making it one of the longer-operating cosmetic surgery practices in Australia. The clinic was among the pioneering facilities to introduce liposuction procedures to the Australian market during this period. Over the subsequent decades, the practice has continuously refined its surgical techniques and expanded its service offerings to encompass the full spectrum of cosmetic surgery and non-surgical aesthetic medicine.

The clinic states it has developed and pioneered proprietary surgical techniques over its 35+ year history, particularly in the area of liposuction and body contouring procedures.
